UC Berkeley's
Summer Session
Closes

The summer session at the University of California, Berkeley, closed today with a record number of students. The session, which began in June, has been one of the most successful in the history of the university. The number of students enrolled in the summer session has increased significantly over the years, and this year is no exception. The success of the summer session is attributed to the high quality of the courses offered and the excellent faculty members who teach them. The summer session provides a unique opportunity for students to complete their coursework and earn credits towards their degrees. The session also allows students to take courses that are not offered during the regular academic year. The summer session is a vital part of the university's educational program and is highly valued by students and faculty alike.

RESEARCH REPORT
 TITLE: THE EFFECTS OF THE
RECENT ECONOMIC RECESSION ON THE LABOR MARKET
 AUTHOR: DR. J. SMITH
 INSTITUTION: UNIVERSITY OF
STATE COLLEGE

DATE: 1932
 NUMBER: 1
 PRICE: 10 CENTS
 DISTRIBUTION: FREE

SUMMARY The purpose of this study is to determine the effect of the recent economic recession on the labor market. The study is based on a survey of 1000 workers in various industries.	INTRODUCTION The labor market has been severely affected by the recent economic recession. The number of unemployed workers has increased significantly, and the wages of employed workers have decreased.	CONCLUSIONS The results of this study indicate that the labor market is in a state of severe depression. The number of unemployed workers is at a high level, and the wages of employed workers are low.
METHODS The data for this study were obtained from a survey of 1000 workers in various industries. The survey was conducted by mail, and the responses were analyzed statistically.	RESULTS The survey results show that the number of unemployed workers has increased by 20% since the beginning of the recession. The wages of employed workers have decreased by 15%.	DISCUSSION The increase in unemployment and the decrease in wages are both a result of the economic recession. The recession has led to a decrease in demand for labor, which has caused the labor market to become oversaturated.
REFERENCES Smith, J. (1932). The effects of the recent economic recession on the labor market. University of State College.	APPENDIX The appendix contains the raw data from the survey, as well as a list of the industries surveyed.	FOOTNOTES Footnote 1: The survey was conducted during the month of January, 1932.
